RXR AUDIO STAND

“The RXR Audio Stand is designed based on similar technical concepts as our industry leading MXR and SXR frame system. This frame can be modified at anytime and will always look as if it was custom built for your system. The RXR Audio Stand offers true HRS performance, numerous configuration options, and excellent value.”

Michael Latvis, Chief Engineer Harmonic Resolution Systems Inc.

The RXR Audio Stand is a high performance design that eliminates noise revealing a new level of musical performance. The frame is manufactured from billet-machined aircraft aluminum, composite wood and a new proprietary high performance polymer damping layer inside the frame. This innovative, cost effective design concept produces configuration flexibility and true HRS performance at a lower price. The highly acclaimed HRS isolation bases load directly into the RXR frame as the shelf system. The RXR frame can also be ordered with the HRS R-Shelf for locations where you want a high quality shelf, but do not desire the full performance of the HRS isolation bases. The R-Shelf is manufactured from a custom built non-resonant material and custom HRS polymer elements that interface with the frame.

Numerous configuration options (customize your system)

Load range of each isolation base optimized for maximum performance

Leveling system with locking feature for stability

Structure design for optimum isolation base performance

System configuration can be expanded or revised at any time (preserves value)
